Fund overview

Our quantitative investment strategy aims to deliver superior risk adjusted returns by using our proprietary alpha model and portfolio construction methodology to create an active portfolio, without being exposed to any particular investment style or specific areas of the market. We strongly believe that we can consistently beat the market by applying a purely quantitative, disciplined investment process.

The development of alpha modelling and portfolio construction methodologies is conducted in a disciplined way, with each phase being rigorously tested and the outcome of the alpha modelling is implemented mechanically. All elements of the investment process have solid economic underpinnings as empirical efficacy alone is insufficient. Our investment process is developed internally with any modification tested extensively before it is implemented;

Our focus is on strategies with low turnover as we do not believe that it is necessary to trade a lot to beat the market we believe our process is both robust and transparent.

All tools and methodologies that are used in our quantitative models have been internally developed and tested. This ensures that our products and methods are fully proprietary and that the team has intimate knowledge of the investment process and tools.

Our quantitative attractiveness scores ('alpha model') explicitly excludes the effects of so called common factors. These common factors are styles like market beta, momentum and company size as well as economic sectors and countries. By explicitly eliminating these commonalities we gain a much better insight in true deviations in stock prices from their fundamental values.
