Fund overview

The F&C US Smaller Companies Fund allows investors to participate in a portfolio consisting principally of securities traded on United States Stock Exchanges or NASDAQ. Investment policy is directed towards achieving long-term capital growth through investment in small and medium sized companies. The Fund typically looks for companies that generate free cashflow, solid returns, have a strong market position and where management have significant equity ownership.

The investment process comprises three stages: idea generation, stock selection and portfolio construction. It uses a risk-adverse approach because we believe it is the best way to achieve long-term returns from US Smaller Companies. The approach is active, long term and value-oriented. We favour companies with limited downside risk where we can make a long-term commitment and in particular we look at companies that generate excess cash flow. The Fund tends to have a lower than average PE ratio and lower volatility. We consider absolute as well as relative performance which contrasts with other small company investors that focus on popular companies in fast growing industries, where companies consume cash and their shares have high valuations and risk. The Portfolio is largely constructed through bottom-up analysis within defined sector parameters.
